

Summer Reading 2011
Redemptorist High School
Seventh and Eighth Grade

Seventh Grade:

Tiger Eyes by Judy Blume

Her father is killed during a robbery of his 7-Eleven Store in Atlantic City. Her mother and brother move to New Mexico to try to rebuild their lives.

Eighth Grade:

A Day No Pigs Would Die by Robert Peck

This is a tale of a boy's struggle with adolescence and the responsibility of manhood. His illiterate parents teach him the value of hard work and the value of an education.